Interested in music? Aged between 8.15?

Come and join the Cathedral Choristers for their annual Open Day on THURSDAY 19 NOVEMBER 3.30-6PM

Many of New Zealand's most accomplished singers began their musical careers as choristers, including King's Singer Christopher Bruerton, Martin Snell, Anna Leese and Jonathan Lemalu .

At least one parent is required to come with each child. They are free to observe the rehearsals and to chat with the present Chorister's parents and Cathedral staff about the value and commitment involved with being a Cathedral Chorister. Arrangements can then be made for individual auditions to join the choir.

All that is required is a donation of $5 to cover expenses for afternoon tea.

Choristers make lifelong friendships and receive excellent musical training from internationally trained musicians, as well as the knowledge that they belong to a tradition that has stretched back 1000 years.

Please contact Director of Music Michael Stewart at dom@wellingtoncathedral.org.nz for further information.

Wellington City Libraries is excited to announce that we are launching our very own poetry journal for kids and teens --

Tūhono! All throughout the month of November, we will be accepting submissions of poetry from young writers aged 5 - 18 in Wellington. Unlike some other poetry journals, having your work accepted in Tūhono is not a competitive feat -- as long as you follow the rules of submission, every piece of work that gets submitted will be published. Tūhono itself -- the collection of poetry from young people all over Wellington -- will be published as an eBook on OverDrive, so that everyone with a library card can borrow it and bask in your talent and glory!
